

All current, past, and future members of Partners for Rural America Inc., State Rural Development Councils, Federal and Corporate Sponsors, and Rural Citizens across the nation, PRA is selecting your membership to help put forth PRA’s strategic action plan to guide its activities in 2008-2009.

The availability of resources for rural, economic and community development is increasingly limited, but the needs of rural America are no less significant. Partners for Rural America and its members work toward

- ❖ Promoting more efficient use of existing resources through collaboration and effective partnerships.
❖ Developing structural partnerships that provide a congruent and fluid service system in support of rural America.
❖ Eliminating impediments to growth at the Federal, State, and Local levels by eliminating burdensome regulations.
❖ Identifying duplication in all its forms and providing creative solutions for addressing these areas.
❖ Identifying “Best Practices” in collaboration and promoting adoption of these models in other areas and regions.

We succeed today because our common mission and the policy and program efforts we lead are critically important to the advancement of rural America. We are moving forward to build new partnerships at the national level, and exploring new ways to work together. Together, we can make the PRA a national leader in rural development policy and practice. But we need your help.
